

REED ORGAN SOCIETY QUARTERLY

INDEX PART II

Volume XXV, No. 1 (2006)

to

Volume XXXIV, No. 4 (2015)

A blind trio, featuring an Estey 2000 organ ca. 1893.

To All Reed Organ Society Members and Friends ~

If you are a serious collector, restorer, or researcher of reed instruments, you really should own a copy of Gellerman's International Reed Organ Atlas, now expanded and improved with the Second Edition.

The Atlas is recognized as the standard reference in the field, and is the most complete and extensive directory of the worldwide reed organ industry ever published. The monumental work presents a complete listing of all known reed organ manufacturers, from the beginnings of the instrument in the early nineteenth century to the present. A brief history of each maker is included wherever information is available. Particular emphasis has been given to addresses, serial numbers, dates, and other data that help to establish the identities of the makers and the age of the instruments.

In addition to the actual manufacturers of instruments, suppliers of components and materials to the trade are included to give a more complete view of the industry. In some cases manufacturers supplied instruments to retail dealers with that dealer's name applied. Because these distributors frequently represented themselves as manufacturers, it is often difficult to determine if they did in fact make their own instruments.

To facilitate research, entries are thoroughly cross-referenced; indexes by country and city and an extensive bibliography are included. Scores of factory photographs, organ engravings, and company advertisements add interest throughout the book.

This Index to the ROS Quarterly has been published by the Reed organ Society for the enlightenment of its members and others, with the hope that their visits through the back issues of the Quarterly (formerly the Bulletin) will be more enjoyable and productive.

The publication of this Index was made possible through the use of a program and database provided by ROS member Joop Rodenburg of Ede, The Netherlands, who retains rights to the distribution of said program and database. The Reed Organ Society is grateful for this contribution to the ongoing work of the Society.

This version of the Index is only available as downloadable file on the website of the Reed Organ Society, <http://www.reedsoc.org>.

The Index has been split into PART I, covering the period 1982 – 2005, and PART II, covering 2006 – 2015. The current Index is the updated version of PART II.

The two Indexes in print can be ordered from the ROS. For instructions to order these and other ROS printed publications visit <http://www.reedsoc.org>.
